ALEX PLOWS JOINS THE SHAPING THE FUTURE TEAM

Alex Plows has joined the Shaping the Future team to support the project beneficiaries with a range of Labour Market Intelligence relating to the North West Wales region. The information gained from Alex's work will help to inform where there may be future career opportunities within the region which in turn will help beneficiaries to shape their career development plans. Alex has a wealth of experience in providing social and economic research within the North Wales region and has worked extensively in the areas of regional regeneration and sustainable development.

One of Alex's most recent projects has been as a Research Fellow for the Wales Institute of Social and Economic Research, Data and Methods (WISERD), working on the 'localities' programme. As part of this work she undertook a pilot project on the impacts of redundancies at Anglesey Aluminium. Alex has already uncovered a range of interesting insights which can be found on the website and I am sure you will all join me in welcoming her to the team.
