3) Wales must have power to boost economy (21/6/13)

The First Minister of Wales, Carwyn Jones, today (Friday, 21 June) renewed his call on the UK Government to devolve responsibility for large-scale energy projects to Wales in an effort to boost the economy and create jobs.

The First Minister's calls come as he prepares to meet leaders at the British-Irish Council in Northern Ireland later this morning when he will be accompanied by Economy Minister Edwina Hart.

He said there must be a 'level playing field' when it comes to having the powers to provide financial support for renewable energy, the so-called renewable obligation.
